

Jason Broome

Jason has a BA in Software and Information Systems from UNC-Charlotte and went on to pursue his MBA from North Carolina State University and has been working in the construction industry almost 30 years.

He began his career right after high school as a framer then started building docks and piers in the Lake Norman area for nearly ten years. About that time, Jason then decided to get back into residential construction as a punch carpenter and finish manager with Scenic Homes in Charlotte, NC, where he was promoted to Division Manager.

Never one to turn down an exciting project, Jason then ventured into building panelized bamboo houses in Vietnam that were shipped to resorts in Hawaii, the Cook Islands, and the Virgin Islands.

After that project, he became the Vice President of Purchasing for Savvy Homes/AV Homes and Taylor Morrison, and is now working with UHF on the River Station project

Jason has a general contractors license from the NC Licensing Board and has now been a general contractor for over 15 years.
